COLONEL LESTER SERIOUSLY HURT

Accident to Georgia Representative in Congress.

FELL THROUGH A SKYLIGHT

Was Looking for His Two Grandchildren at the Time.

MEDICAL TREATMENT GIVEN

Patient Rallied This Morning-Physicians Unable to Give Hope-In Confederate Service.

Col. Rufus Ezekiel Lester, one of the remaining nine members of the House of Representatives who served in the confederate army, met with a serious accident last evening about 9:30 o'clock while looking for his two small grandchildren in the Cairo apartment house and hotel, where he makes his home while Congress is in session. Col. Lester fell through the skylight in the cupola above the thirteenth story and landed on the twelfth floor, a distance of fully thirty feet. He was rendered unconscious by the fall, receiving severe injuries to his Representative Rufus E. Lester. egs, left shoulder, head and body. So much noise was made by the breaking of the glass and the striking against the floor that a number of persons occupying apartments on the twelfth floor rushed from their rooms to ascertain the cause. Mrs. E. K. Moore was passing through the hall and was almost directly beneath the skylight when Col. Lester fell. She telephoned to her husband, who was on a lower floor, and the latter responded with two of the bell

Col. Lester's condition was such that h could not be removed and it was not until morning that he could be carried to his apartments.

Mrs. Lester knew nothing of the affair Mrs. Lester knew nothing of the affair until word was taken to their apartment. She was there with the two grandchildren, Lester and Martha Randolph. The sight of her husband, injured, affected her greatly. It was thought last night that Col. Lester would certainly die, but this morning, it was stated, the patient had rallied, and those who were in attendance nursing him entertained a ray of hope. Physicians who saw the patient, however, did not give his relatives much Climbed a Ladder.

Why Col. Lester climbed the almost perpendicular ladder and tried to get to the roof is a matter of conjecture. While it is know that he had been looking for his two grandchildren shortly before the accident occurred, and that he walked up the stairway instead of riding in the elevator, some of his friends are inclined to believe that he wanted to go there to see the airship at Luna Park when it made its ascension. It is stated that Col Lester did not see the so was particularly anxious to view it After dinner last evening he was in the bes of spirits and chatted pleasantly with a number of friends before he made inquiries about the children. Having failed to find them on the lower floor, Col. Lester asthem on the lower floor, Col. Lester ascended the stairway and went to the top of the building. It is thought he made a mistake when he attempted to reach the reof, and went up the ladder instead of by the stairway usually used for that purpose. Reaching the cupola, it is thought, the elevator ropes and wheels confused him, and in his effort to return he stepped upon the glass skylight and crashed through, as stated. Before going up stairs Col. Lester appeared on the portico of the building and asked if any of the persons there had seen his grandchildren. The little ones had lived with their grandparents since the death of their mother, and Col. Lester was very their mother, and Col. Lester was very fond of them. He also referred to them as als pets and much of his time was devoted

At the Capitol Yesterday. About five years ago Col. Lester suffered stroke of paralysis, which left him with an impediment in his speech. Despite his affliction, he attended to his duties in Congress and participated in the work of the committees on expenditure in the State Department and on rivers and harbors. He was at the Capitol all day yesterday, returning to the Cairo at the close of the day's session.

No time was lost in summoning medical aid for the injured man, Dr. T. J. Kent, the house physician at the Cairo, being called to attend him. Dr. Kent realized at once that Col. Lester's condition was criti-cal, so he called Dr. Charles W. Brown in consultation. The physicians made an examination of the patient and reached the conclusion that the injuries would probably prove fatal.

It was stated at the Cairo late this after noon that Col. Lester was resting comfortably and that he appeared to be a little better than he was earlier in the day.

GOLFER SHERMAN IN KNOLLWOOD FINALS

NEW YORK, June 16 .- T. M. Sherman the latest acquisition to the Wykagyl Club, near New Rochelle, and S. J. Graham of Fairfield qualified yesterday for the final of the chief cup at the Knollwood golf tournament. In the semi-final round young Shermon, fresh from his victories at Washington, D. C., defeated Howard Gee, the Princeton amateur, by 2 up on the seventeenth green. The Fairfield man, after a dingdong match, defeated E. C. Sawyer, the Midland Club champion, by 1 up. The quality of the golf may be gathered from the fact that Mr. Graham was round in 73, while his opponent was one stroke worse. The first four and the last six holes were halved, while the Fairfield man won four and his opponent three of the eighteen holes. The score by strokes: Mr. Graham. . 5 4 4 5 6 4 4 2 5—39 Mr. Sawyer. . 5 4 4 5 5 4 3 3 4—37 Mr. Graham. . 4 2 3 4 4 6 4 3—34—73 Mr. Sawyer. . 5 3 4 4 4 6 4 3—37—74

In his match against Howard Gee T.

M. Sherman started out as if he were going to gain a hollow victory, as the Prince-tonian seemed helpless on the putting greens and lost four of the first five holes.

After this, however, he gathered himself together and was three down at the turn, which was in 38 and 41, respectively. Coming back Mr. Gee made a plucky bid to get on even terms, but the best he could do was to be 2 down at the sixteenth. The next hole was halved, the Princetonian throwing away a fine chance on the green.
